700+ Program Ideas for Rovers

700+ Program Ideas for Rovers is a tool to help you generate an interesting, balanced and fun program for your Rover Crew. This has been developed primarily through the Murray Midlands Region Rovers, as part of their 'Renew Your Crew' days, where they brainstormed program ideas. Some of these suggestions are country oriented, due to the group of people the suggestions came from, but there are many that are relevant to any Crew in Australia.

The list has been continually added to as more opportunities came to light. We now have the completed version with over 700 program ideas for Rovers – if you did one of these suggestions per week, you could program for over 14 years before you would need to repeat an activity! This is clearly not an exhaustive list, as the opportunities are really endless, but it is a comprehensive list, often with additional information or an explanation of the activity.

These suggestions have been sorted into categories, and alphabetical order to make it a bit more simplified for finding a type of activity. An activity could fit into several categories, such as 'building animal nest boxes' could relate to service, environment, or fundraising, but we have generally only placed it into one category. The sections are:

- Adventurous/Outdoor Activities
- Crafts
- Construction & Maintenance
- Environment
- Food, Drinks & Parties
- Fundraising
- Games & Stuff
- Health & Beauty
- Marketing & Promotions
- Media & Computers
- Other
- Scouting
- Sports
- Service & Spiritual
- Tours, Visits & Guests
- Training

It has been said that a good program is the key to a good Rover Crew. There are several ways you could generate a program, which are covered at the start of this document. Whichever method you use to generate your program, we hope that 700+ Program Ideas for Rovers helps you to get the most out of Rovers and the wonderful experiences there are available to you.

How to make a Crew Program

There are several ways you can come up with a program that will suit the interests of your crew. Some methods suit crews better than others, so try them out and see which your crew prefer. Remember two things in making your program:

1. Does this Program suit the interests of our current members?
2. Is this Program interesting to encourage new members into the Crew?

Does this Program suit the interests of our current members?

In answering the first question, you need to make sure that every member of the crew has a chance to contribute to what they would like to do in the program, and also participate in the organisation and running of activities. Don't simply let the dominant people tell the other Crew members what the crew will be doing for the next six months. It may take some prompting to get input from all members, but it's worth it.

Is this Program interesting to encourage new members into the Crew?

If you only do one type of activity, every week, every month, every year, then the chances are you won't attract as many new members to the crew as you may if there is variety in the program. Rovers is largely about experiences and friendships. If the Program offers a variety of experiences, and ways to enhance friendships, or make new ones then it's likely to be successful.

How long to Program for?

Some crews like to Program for a month or two, but many prefer a six-month Program. This allows people to save up money for the bigger events, and ensures there is enough opportunity to put dates in the calendar, or ask for time off work if necessary.

Balancing the Program

As well as balancing the interests of the crew, there are a few other things to try to include in the Program. Ask these questions:

- Do you have any activities with the Venturers?
- Do you have any activities with the other sections?
- Are there any activities out in the public?
- Are there any outdoor activities?
- Is there any fundraising?
- Is it Fun!?!?
- Are all of the members involved in some way?
- Does it include important Region Rover Council or Branch Rover Council dates?
- Are there any service activities?
- Do you have business meetings?
- Is everybody in the crew happy with the program?

When the Program is finished

Once the Program is finished, type up a copy and give one to every member of the crew and the Rover Advisors. Give a copy to the Region Rover Council chairman and Assistant Region Commissioner for Rovers. Also, give a copy to your Group Leader if you're a Group Crew, or District Commissioner, and to each of the feeder Venturer Units. Put a copy up in the Crew Den and Scout Hall, and keep spare copies for new members or those who show an interest, and for the members who lose theirs!

Ways to come up with Program ideas

Brainstorming

Have a big sheet of paper or a whiteboard, and spend five minutes where anyone can call out an idea for an activity, and it is written up on the board. No one is allowed to pay out any suggestions, and everything should be written down. Stop every couple of minutes to see if there are any themes, or possible areas that aren't being covered, such as weekend activities or fundraising. Continue to Brainstorm until there is a decent sized list. Pick out the activities that people would most like to do and fit them into the Program calendar.

Development approach

Scouting is about developing the individual, which is why the Aim of Rovering is for all Rovers to get PISSED:

- Physical
- Intellectual
- Spiritual
- Social
- Emotional
- Development

The Rover Section also has the motto of 'Service'.

On five sheets of paper write the headings of each of these areas above. Have another sheet of paper with the heading 'Something I want to do'. Everyone has a texta or a pen, and writes three suggestions under each of the headings. When everyone has finished, each person has three stars they can 'spend' on activities under each heading they would most like to do. Once everyone has finished, pick out the activities that scored the highest, and fit these into the Program calendar.

Say & Do

If someone would like to do an activity, they say what it is and it's put into the Program calendar as an activity they organise.

Pick 'n' Mix

Each person provides five Program ideas. This can be done with members who may not be able to attend the programming night. All the ideas are written onto small individual pieces of paper, and drawn from a hat. These activities are then fitted into the Program calendar.

Way back when?

Have a look at some old Programs from several years ago that the crew has kept. Go through some of these activities and pick out the ones that sound good. Fit these into the Program calendar.

Random choice

Have 700+ Program Ideas for Rovers in front of you. Close your eyes, open a page, and point your finger. Whatever you land on is the activity you do! Pass the book on to the next person and continue until you have filled all of the dates in the Program.
